

Who is eligible to Vote?

The 2007 election year is what election officials refer to as a municipal election. This means that only city and town officials will be nominated and elected, and therefore voters must live inside a city or town to be eligible to vote in 2007.

You have the right to vote in an Indiana election, if:

- The voter is both a U.S. citizen and a resident of Indiana; and
- The voter will be at least 18 years of age at the next Municipal Election, November 6, 2007; and
- The voter is not currently in prison after being convicted of a crime; and
- The voter has lived in the precinct where you vote for at least 30 days prior to the election; and
- The voter is registered to vote.

Voters who need to register for the first time, or those who have moved and need to change their name or address must do so on or before April 9, 2007 for the May 8, 2007 Municipal Primary Election or October 9, 2007 for the November 6, 2007 Municipal Election.

Certain voters who register to vote by mail are required to present additional documentation to the county voter registration office that confirm the residence address of the voter. (NOTE: This is in addition to the photo ID requirement). The voter may present any of the following types of documents, including: an Indiana Driver's License or State identification card, any other current and valid photo ID, current utility bill, bank statement, government check, or paycheck showing the voter's current name and address. Please note this requirement does not apply to voters that apply to vote in person at a government agency or those that return their paperwork in person.
